The T-City Concept

Concept:

T-City is an attempt to introduce and utilise the possibilities inherent in ICT in all areas of life: health, education, public administration, tourism, culture, transport, economy.

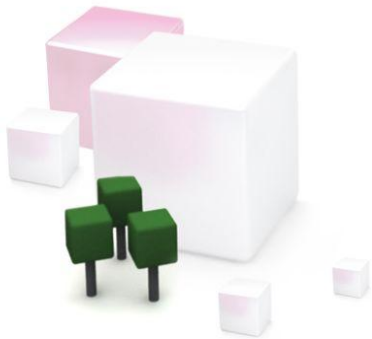

Purpose:

The establishment of the „city of the future”, where, besides today's info-communication technologies, the most divergent future oriented developments make their tangible appearance.

Test environment:

Testing new services and products in a real environment, involvement of the population and SME's in the identification of further improvement and new development paths

T-City History, the Beginning of Cooperation

End of 2007

Following the pattern of European intelligent cities, in late 2007 Magyar Telekom also started to plan the design of the T-City concept.

48 cities were analysed and evaluated according to various criteria (the dynamics of development, demography, the level of development of business sectors, city communities, etc.)

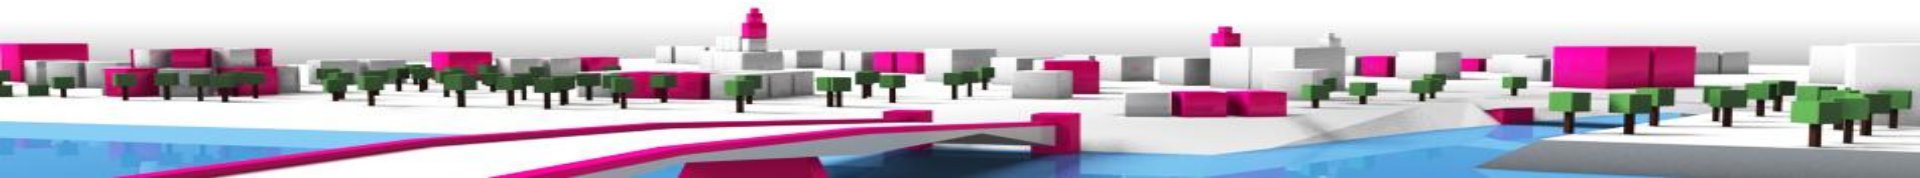

July 2008

The result of analyses indicated Szolnok as a T-City candidate, being a dynamically developing city

Preparation of the technical and business concepts, negotiations. Cooperation with the local government as a partner.

Involvement in the City's Life

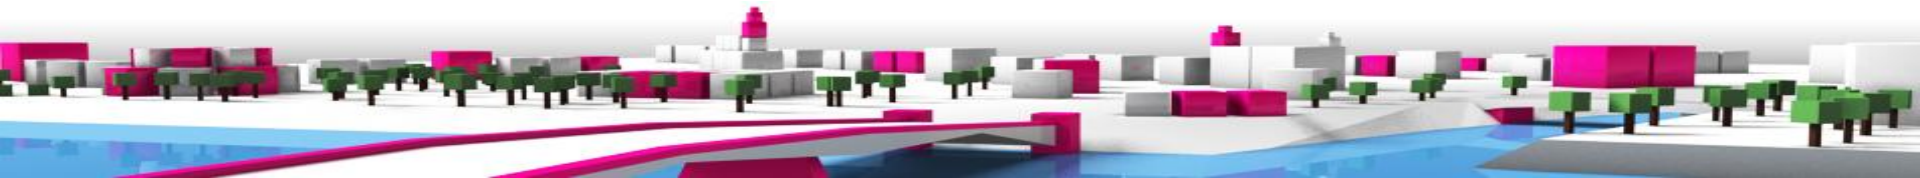

We find it important that we should take part in the city's life and make our appearance in city events. In 2010:

- Goulash Festival: cooking competition, T-City questionnaire, handing out presents
- Advent: Conversation with citizens, handing out presents

We expect to make our appearance in these events in 2011:

- Children's Day
- May Day
- May Fly Festival
- Senior Maraton
- Goulash Festival
- Advent

Thank you for your attention!
